TAKES GUARD'S LIFE

Fitting Tributes Paid Throughout the Commonwealth to One Who Held Two of the Most Exalted Positions.

Austin, March 26.—In compliance with the request of Governor Lanham and many other Texans, services in memory of the late James Stephen Hogg were held Sunday all over this commonwealth, and numerous were the tributes paid the distinguished departed, twice attorney general and twice governor of this imperial state. His character, ability, honesty and popularity were feelingly and eloquently referred to by many noted citizens in cities, towns, villages and country precincts. Had Governor Hogg lived until the 24th, he would have been fifty-five years old, and it was fitting that the memorial exercises be held on Sunday, when the thousands who honored him in life would have the time to lay tender forget-me-nots in memory's chain.

Speakers told of his labors for the state he was a native of and loved so dearly. Others spoke of his honesty and courage and his upright life.

The exercises at this city were held in the senate chamber. Governor Lanham presided. There was a large gathering and many eulogistic words were spoken.

At Dallas the meeting was held in the Majestic theater, and the house was crowded. The boxes were draped with the flag of the Texas republic and mourning. Mayor Barry presided. Hon. Horace Chilton delivered an address on the life of Governor Hogg, and a number of others made five-minute speeches. Among the speakers were Father Hayes and United States District Attorney Atwell.

Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, the evangelist, said while he had never met Governor Hogg, Hon. W. J. Bryan had informed him that the former Texas executive was one of the greatest American statesmen. Tremendous applause greeted the mention of the Nebraskan's name, which was renewed when the reverend gentleman remarked that, although a northern man and a Republican, he felt like applauding also.

Mr. Atwell termed Governor Hogg Texas' greatest man.

Among the speakers were Governor Lanham, Judge Terrell, ex-Governor Sayers and Justice Brown. Governor Lanham said Governor Hogg's life was a demonstration of the possibilities of typical American manhood.

Judge Terrell said Governor Hogg refused to hear Bob Ingersoll, saying he would not thus insult the memory of his mother. The judge said the governor was baptized into the Baptist church when seventeen years old.

"I asked him," said Judge Terrell, "how he came to leave the church. He replied that one night he accepted an invitation to attend an entertainment at a neighboring house, where they had music, dance and merrymaking. The Baptist preacher wanted him to apologize, and he refused to do so. He had read his Bible and knew that there was nothing for which he owed an apology. He believed in a God of love. He did not believe in a fiery hell, although he did believe that everyone must suffer the consequences of his sin. He believed, as I do, that when he was submerged in baptism, the finger of God touched and saved him."

At Tyler, Marvin church was crowded and resolutions of sorrow adopted. Judge J. M. Duncan delivered the principal address. Mrs. L. L. Jester sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

There was a large gathering at Greenwall's opera house, Fort Worth. Colonel R. M. Wynne presided. Rev. Alonzo Monk delivered a memorial sermon. Several brief speeches followed. At Palestine the services were held in the city hall. Colonel T. M. Campbell and others spoke.

SPECIAL SESSION BEGINS.

Texas Legislature Meets to Act on the Terrell Election Law.

Austin, March 26.—The Twenty-ninth legislature was called to meet for the purpose of correcting section 120 of the Terrell election law at noon today.

In the senate Lieutenant Governor Neal called the senators to order and in the house Speaker Seabury performed like duty. Committees were appointed to notify the governor that the legislature was ready for business. The executive committee to each a message stating what was desired.

Advanced Two Points.

New York, March 26.—Cotton market on Monday opened steady at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 2 points.

Upland Peaches Not Hurt.

Rusk, Tex., March 26.—Upland peaches in this vicinity were not hurt by frost. Strawberries are safe.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 26.—Just as the convicts at the penitentiary were called for breakfast Monday morning J. W. Woods of Macon, Mo., a guard was pounced upon by a negro convict and stabbed three times, death being instantaneous. Another guard killed the convict.

The convict, named Sonny Anderson, was sentenced from St. Louis in 1904 to serve four years for assault to kill.

He had been on what is termed the "cranky list" for several days and had been kept in a cell. He was let out Monday morning with other prisoners, but soon afterward Guard Woods was ordered to put him back into the cell.

Anderson refused to obey, and when the guard seized him by an arm and attempted to force him into the cell he drew a knife and stabbed the guard three times, killing him instantly. Other guards and several convicts rushed to the rescue of Woods, Anderson slashing right and left, and severely injuring two other convicts, one of them, Wm. Sheridan, sentenced from St. Louis to serve ten years for murder, being so seriously injured he will probably die. William Rockwell, sentenced from Pettis county for robbery, was stabbed, but not seriously wounded.

Anderson then seized a hose and directed a stream of water on those who attempted to capture him. Dropping the hose he threw buckets and anything he could lay his hands on and made his way into the yard. It was found impossible to capture him alive, and a guard finally shot him to death.

Guard Woods was formerly sheriff of Macon county and three months ago was appointed a prison guard.

CENSUS OF BABIES.

Conference Held Between Tribe Chiefs and Indian Agent.

Anadarko, Okla., March 26.—Chief Quannah Parker of the Comanches and Chief Lone Wolf of the Kiowas held a meeting Monday with Indian Agent John P. Blackman at Anadarko for the purpose of taking a census of the Indian babies in these tribes that have been born since the last allotments were made in 1901. The approximate number of these at present is estimated at 125. The object of this census is to supply the secretary of the interior information on which to make allotments in case the Stephens bill, providing for opening of 505,000 acres of Indian pasture lands belonging to these tribes, should become a law, with amendment recently proposed that Indians have one township of the big pasture set aside for their own cattle, and Parker will recommend that allotments for Indian babies be selected in this tract, in order that the cattle may have pasture lands after all other lands have been disposed of. There are about 5,000 Indian cattle pastured there at present.

TRAIN OVERTURNED.

Track Collapses and Dreadful Accident Was Immediate Result.

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 26.—News was received here that nine men were killed and twelve injured Monday in the wreck of a passenger train on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad thirty miles west of Casper. The wreck is said to have been caused by the washing out of the newly made roadbed, the tracks collapsing and the train being overturned.

The railroad bridge at Casper had been washed out by the spring freshet. It is reported, and no relief can be sent from Casper to the scene of the wreck.

BESIDE PARENTS.

Joseph H. Morrill Leaves Burial Instructions and Suicides.

Louisville, March 26.—Joseph H. Morrill of Little Rock, Ark., a guest at the Broadway hotel, was found dead in his room Monday morning. Congealed blood about his mouth showed where he fired the fatal bullet into his brain.

A note left by Morrill is as follows: "Telegraph my wife what to do with my body. I want to be put away beside my mother and father in Cave Hill cemetery."

Cave Hill cemetery is the leading burial place of Louisville.

Bishop Fitzgerald's Coadjutor.

Rome, March 26.—The congregation of the propaganda will present to the pope the name of Mgr. John B. Morris of Nashville, Tenn., to be coadjutor bishop of Little Rock.

The pecan industry is to be given a thorough trial in the Brazos bottom. Prof. R. F. Smith, who owns a cotton plantation in the bottom, has organized a company for the purpose of putting out and maintaining a large pecan grove. He has cut off 100 acres of his plantation fronting on the river and has set out 1000 trees. Two thousand more are to be put out next year. Prof. Smith feels confident of the success of the enterprise, though some five years must elapse before the trees begin to bear.

The legislature is respectfully invited to inspect the record which The Post presents relative to insane persons for whom the state is unable, through lack of facilities to provide. The report show that in the jails there are confined 125 men and fifty-four women. Those convicted of lunacy but not confined in jails number 182. Several counties, among them Dallas, failed to make reports. It may be said, therefore, that there are at least 400 insane persons in Texas for whom the State cannot provide. It is true that an addition to the hospital for the insane at Terrell is now being constructed and that it is capable of caring for 500 additional patients. But it is also true that the figures here given do not account for all of the insane in the State.—Houston Post.

NEW FIELD SECRETARY NAMED.

Rev. W. J. Derrick of Yazoo City, Miss., Takes the Field for Texas Woman's College.

Rev. W. J. Derrick, pastor of the First Baptist church of Yazoo City, Miss., has been elected field secretary and financial agent of the Texas Woman's College of Bryan, and has accepted and will enter actively upon his duties April 1. Rev. Derrick succeeds Rev. B. B. Hall in the position, the latter having accepted a call to the pastorate of Emanuel Baptist church of St. Paul Minnesota.

Rev. Derrick is a graduate of Mississippi College, formerly a student of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and has been pastor of the Yazoo City church for the past seven years, during which time he has built two churches. The first building having been destroyed by fire, he rebuilt it on an enlarged and improved scale. He is about forty years old, has a family and comes highly recommended as a christian gentleman and an earnest and capable worker.

MYERS-HODGES.

Mr. E. L. Myers and Miss Sallie Hodges were married Sunday at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hodges, on the plantation of Fountain Bros. in the Brazos bottom, Rev. C. P. Fountain of College Station officiating. The wedding was quietly solemnized and witnessed by relatives and a few friends, after which a sumptuous dinner was enjoyed.

The bride is a young lady lovely in person and character, and much esteemed by a large circle of friends. The groom was formerly a student of the A. and M. College and is a worthy and industrious young man who has charge of the shop work on this plantation, of which Mr. Hodges is the manager.

DISTRICT COURT MATTERS.

Joe Fizini Given Two Years on Sunday— Jury for Fifth Week.

The jury in the case of the Italian, Joe Fizini, charged with the murder of the Italian woman, Jennie Mongonio, near Bryan last fall, brought in a verdict about 9 o'clock Sunday morning assessing Fizini's punishment at two years in the penitentiary. Two other Italians stand charged with murder in connection with the same killing.

The case of Dr. C. L. Versea, colored, charged with murder in the second degree, went to trial in the district court yesterday.

Following is the jury for the fifth week, April 2 being the day for appearance: G. P. Edge, A. D. Locke, J. I. Barron, E. F. DeHart, T. Q. Dyess, C. A. Buchanan, T. K. Lawrence, L. D. McGee, A. E. J. JENKINS' TEST.

Sold Hyomei for Years and Knows it Will Cure Catarrh.

E. J. Jenkins has given Hyomei a most thorough and remarkable test. For a long time he has offered to refund the money to any purchaser of Hyomei, if it failed to benefit.

The remedy has made so many cures among his customers that he has urged its use in the most chronic cases of catarrh.

Breathed for a few minutes four times a day, through the inhaler that comes with every outfit, it soothes the irritated mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, kills the catarrhal germs, and restores complete health. Its healing, antiseptic fragrance penetrates to the most remote air passages, as no medicine taken into the stomach can possibly do. Immediate relief almost always follows the use of Hyomei, and great benefit is seen after a few days' treatment.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs only $1, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the pocket or purse, and will last a lifetime, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. If this is not sufficient for a complete cure, additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents.

Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialist, and remember, too, if Hyomei does not cure, E. J. Jenkins will return your money.

GAPON REITERATES.

Instructs Attorney to at Once Bring Action Against Detractors.

St. Petersburg, March 26.—Father Gapon, in a frank, open letter, has replied to the attacks on his public and private life. He announces he has instructed Lawyer M. Margolin to bring action for defamation of character against his detractors and denies the charges of betraying and abandoning a girl while a prison chaplain. Father Gapon explains that by refusing to follow the rule of the Orthodox church prohibiting the remarriage of priests, which he declares drives the clergy to secret immorality, he took to his bosom as his wife a girl whom he loved, and she is still living with him.

Continuing, Father Gapon declares that of the $15,000 which Premier Witte gave through former Commerce Minister Timiriazoff for restoration of the Gapon labor organization, he only received $3,500, all of which he used to help workmen. The remainder, he alleges, was stolen by Mathusensky, a press agent and real director of the Father Gapon movement, who was arrested at Saratoff and brought to St. Petersburg for trial.

Regarding the charge of gambling at Monte Carlo with the "mysterious money," he says: "During the bloody uprising at Moscow I received money for literary work, and while abroad, out of simple curiosity, I played for small stakes. I review my connection with the workmen's movement to prove I never was an agent of the government, and I labor solely in the interest of workmen."

When he returned to St. Petersburg he admits he communicated with Count Witte, who gave him permission to live here, considering that his work was "constructive and not destructive."

Father Gapon concludes with the expression of his firm conviction that history will demonstrate the "unfrocked pope" lived for his country to the last drop of his blood and died a sentinel over the rights and liberties of workmen and oppressed.

The letter has made a good impression, but Father Gapon's sincerity is sneeringly attacked by the Russ, which calls him a friend of General Fulton, former chief of police of St. Petersburg and a pensioner of Count Witte.

Emperor Nicholas, in receiving a deputation from Kazan province Monday, employed a new and stronger tone. He said nothing about satisfying land hunger, and spoke only of the inviolability of property, informing the peasants that a recurrence of agrarian disorders and destruction of property would not only be punished in the most severe fashion, but communities participating in disorders would be deprived of the assistance of peasant banks.

Papers continue to be filled with rumors of Premier Witte's resignation, which they say has been offered to the emperor, but not acted upon.

CURRY SAFE.

Makes Report of the Recent Battle With the Pulajanes.

Manila, March 26.—Governor Curry, in his report to the government of the recent engagement with Pulajanes at Magtaon says: "We had a hard fight, in which Captain Jones of the constabulary lost half his command, gaining a magnificent victory in the face of overwhelming odds. The Pulajanes were under a flag of truce, and while promising to surrender immediately, opened fire, charging the constabulary. The leader of the Pulajanes ordered his men to first wipe out the constabulary and then capture myself and other Americans. I requested a company of Federal troops immediately, and later on, when joined by this additional force, was prepared to wage a war of extermination against the fugitives, which is the only alternative. The constabulary did splendidly, though inferior firearms, which were minus bayonets, placed them at a disadvantage. With the assistance of Federal troops we will be able to exterminate the fugitives who are now in the mountains, and destroy their crops. Natives of Samar, with the exception of the Pulajanes, are in sympathy with us and are assisting us.

"Every town is endeavoring to assist in exterminating the fugitives. Several prominent Filipinos were present and witnessed the treacherous action of the Pulajanes.

"Judge Lobinger and all the other Americans are safe."

SAVED BY POLICEMAN.

Negro Badly Beaten, but Mob Failed to Lynch Him.

Oakland, Cal., March 26.—A mob of over 100 men attempted Sunday to lynch a negro named Felton Evans. He was accused of attacking two young white women, daughters of a Southern Pacific railway engineer, and railroad hands in West Oakland yards quickly gathered to punish him. He was badly beaten and steps were being taken to lynch him when he was saved by Policeman John Fahey, who succeeded, after a struggle, in getting him to a place of safety.

The Stein-Bloch Wool Test

The Stein-Bloch Wool Test consists of a boiling solution of water and caustic potash, the chemical action of which dissolves wool but not cotton. The two samples here shown were originally of the same length, the test proved one to be all wool, consuming the part immersed and leaving only the blackened edge. The other proved to be an adulteration containing a large per cent of mercerized cotton.

Woolen will Wear

IN ALL WEATHERS

Argue as they will, one fact remains: Cotton adulterated cloth will neither keep its shape nor wear under any conditions. Pure woolen cloth will.

Our Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes are made of pure woolens, tested by the wool test, which is the beginning of all

STEIN-BLOCH CLOTHES

The only reason why cotton is substituted for wool in mercerized fabrics is to cheapen the goods. A house is no stronger than its foundation. So with clothes. Cheap fabrics mean cheap clothes; and no matter how shrewdly they are tailored, they will be untrustworthy. Stein-Bloch employ no mercerized or cotton adulterated fabrics. Their goods are pure caustic tested wool, and the clothes made from them wear and keep their shape.

A STORY OF WEBSTER

ONE OCCASION WHEN DANIEL WAS DEEPLY HUMILIATED.

An Incident Which Shocked and Surprised Him Into Tears—The Admiration, the Loyalty and the Generosity of His Circle of Friends.

The following incident in the life of Daniel Webster was related to the writer by the late Joshua Seward:

Mr. Seward came to Woburn from Boston in the early seventies and bought a farm where he lived until his death in 1855. He was a native of the New Hampshire "Peace City," from which place he came to Boston in early manhood and later engaged in the livery business at school street. He was a genial, social, agreeable young man, and in a short time many of the business and professional men of the city were his friends and patrons. Daniel Webster, then in the fullness of his masterly manhood, was his particular friend and most favored patron. One year Webster early engaged to deliver the Fourth of July oration in the city.

A public procession was then an important feature of the celebration, and the orator of the day was the chief person of distinction in the parade. In those days there were no four wheeled vehicles for convenience or for pleasure. A chaise was the proper carriage for gentlemen to use. Webster was popular and proud as popular. He saw no chaise in the city as good as he desired to appear in on that important occasion, and therefore he ordered one to be built by the principal carriage maker of the city (Sargent, I think it was), to be ready for use on that day. In the morning of the Fourth he appeared at Seward's stable office and requested Seward to go to the carriage shop and get the chaise he had ordered. Seward harnessed a horse and went to the carriage shop as directed and told the proprietor he had come for Mr. Webster's chaise. The proprietor in firm and measured tones that could not be misunderstood asked, "Did Mr. Webster send the money to pay for the chaise?"

In relating this to me Seward said: "I was never so astonished in my life! I should have been less surprised if he had raised his fist and knocked me down. I had no thought that there was a man living who had ever heard of the great Webster, the godlike Daniel, who would or who could have denied him any request it was possible to grant. I could only say, 'He sent no money by me.' 'Then,' said the proprietor, 'tell him he can have the chaise when he sends the money to pay for it and not till then.' " Seward said he was never in such a dilemma in all his life. He could not go back and tell that great man, whom he adored, that he could not have the chaise till he paid for it. And yet he must go back and tell him something. But what could he tell him? Finally, after much thought and study it occurred to him that he had a new chaise which he would offer to Webster and tell him that the varnish on the one he had ordered was not yet hard and that it would be liable to injure if taken out in the heat and dust of that public day. Webster met Seward at the door when he returned, and before Webster could ask a question Seward was telling him the story he had invented on the way home. Webster made no reply, but accepted Seward's statement as true and rode in his chaise that day.

About a week later Webster came again and said to Seward, "I think the varnish on that chaise is hard now, and you may go down and get it." Seward said: "With a heavy heart I harnessed a horse and went again to the shop. I knew I should not get the chaise, and I was not disappointed. In the same manner I was asked the same question as before. I could not invent another story that would be credible and was therefore compelled to go back and tell him the truth." Webster was impatiently awaiting Seward's return, and when in halting distance he called to Seward: "Where is the chaise? What is the trouble?" Seward approached him more closely and in tones so low that no one could overhear him replied, "He told me to tell you that you could have the chaise when you sent the money to pay for it and not before." Webster stood silent an instant and then with voice trembling with emotion exclaimed, "My God, Joshua, did he say that?" and sank into a nearby chair and cried as would a deeply aggrieved child of six summers.

It is well known that Webster would incur debt, apparently with no thought that there were two parties to a contract, a creditor and a debtor, and that their moral obligations were co-equal. Consequently his creditors so multiplied and his indebtedness so increased as to interfere with his political plans, if not, indeed, threaten his political future. At this time his friends came to his aid and, it is said, raised the sum of $40,000 to cancel his indebtedness and relieve him from the further annoyance and pressure of his creditors. When we realize that $40,000 was a larger sum to raise then for any purpose than would be $200,000 today we have some measure of the admiration and the loyalty of his friends.—H. C. Hall in Boston Transcript.

Just So.

"I thought you said you couldn't live without me," sneered the girl. "So I did," answered the man. "Yet you're living." "No; I'm not. Just boarding; that's all."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

John Hunter, the famous anatomist, once said that the feminine love of conversation was a consequence of a peculiarity in brain tissue.

Force of Perseverance.

There are two ways of attaining an important end—force and perseverance. Force falls to the lot only of the privileged few, but austere and sustained perseverance can be practiced by the most insignificant. Its silent power grows irresistible with time.—Mme. Swetchine.

The Nautilus.

The idea of airtight compartments in ships was suggested by the peculiar construction of the nautilus. The shell of this animal has forty or fifty compartments, into which air or water may be admitted, to allow the occupant to sink or float, as it pleases.

Absentminded.

One of the most brilliant of all Eaton's masters some years ago was a very absentminded man. He was reported to have been seen one day chasing a hen down Windsor hill in the fond belief that she was his hat!

Malicious.

In the Big Revival at the Baptist Church.

IMMENSE CROWDS ATTEND SERVICES

Evangelist Andrews Talks Plainly on Practical Subjects—Morning Meetings Now Held at Opera House.

Heavy firing all along the line with the artillery advanced to close range characterized the Sunday operations in the big revival at the Baptist church. The crowds at the morning and night services were immense, and Evangelist Andrews got right down to straight, old fashioned gospel preaching and warmed things up mightily, so that at the night service six conversions were recorded and a solid foundation laid for some fine work this week.

For the first morning lesson the evangelist read from the sixth chapter of Deuteronomy, from the fifth to the ninth verses, wherein is emphatically set forth the commandment to love God with all the heart, soul and might, and to teach this commandment to children diligently in the home and in the daily affairs and walks of life, "when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." The second scripture lesson was from the sixth chapter of Ephesians, first four verses, embracing the commandment to children to obey and honor their parents, and to fathers to "provoke not your children to wrath: But bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

The text of the morning sermon was the last clause of the fifteenth verse of the twenty-fourth chapter of Joshua: "But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." The preacher briefly outlined the marvelous campaign of Gen. Joshua with the raw recruits of Israel against a warlike enemy with walled cities, and showed that Joshua commanded his household in the fear of God with the same dominating influence that he commanded his army. Going directly into the heart of the subject, the sermon was given under three separate heads: Home Government, Home Training and Home Religion. The preacher declared lawlessness and anarchy to be largely the product of the same elements in the home. The disturbers of society and the schools and those who make trouble everywhere in life are generally those who were never controlled in the home and have no appreciation of the purpose and meaning of the law and of authority. Mothers and fathers who indulge their children in having their own way are laying up trouble and strife, probably jail bars and convict stripes. No greater injustice can be done to a child than such erring and misguided indulgence, and to take up for them when they are wrong and in trouble with their teachers. Parents these days act like they thought that human nature had changed since they were boys and girls and are ready to believe any kind of a tale a child brings home, just as if they didn't know he would make it as favorable to himself as possible. Teachers deserve the confidence and support of the parent in their work, and if they have been in the service any length of time are generally worthy of it. This and much more was said along this line, and then the evangelist turned his attention to parental example and said that a man who would swear before his boy isn't fit to raise pigs, much less children. "God made every man to be a king and a priest unto his own household," declared the preacher, "and as long as those who are dependent upon me put their feet under my table and wear clothes I pay for they are going to submit to my authority." Gadding girls next came in for a gentle reminder that they should make themselves scarce and hard to see around depots and other public places where they have no business. The speaker declared a man will devote six months, a year or two years to training a bird dog and expect to train a child in a day, when in fact it must be done "line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little and there a little," with applications of "hickory oil and beach tree ointment" when necessary. "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it." In this quotation the preacher put the emphasis on "train" and "old," and declared that most people do not have sound horse-sense until they are thirty years old, and then if they have been properly trained they get down to a steady gait and begin to show their home training. The sermon closed with an earnest exhortation to bring Christ into the home, and a large number of parents stood up on a proposition pledging them to try to live right and get their children saved.

SUNDAY NIGHT SERVICE.

The Sunday night sermon was prefaced with scripture lessons from the thirteenth chapter of Luke and the sixth chapter of Romans. The text was from Romans 6, 23: "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

This was one of the strongest sermons ever delivered in Bryan against the usual forms of worldliness, and the preacher declared that the devil would rather have a respectable man's or woman's service than that of those who have gone to the extremes in sin, because the former class are inviting and attractive in influence, while the latter are repelling and a warning against the effects of sin. All the devil wants is to have your name on his pay roll, and he would not have you any worse than you are because he is a shrewd old devil and would not destroy your influence. The preacher arranged card playing for prizes, dancing, serving wine, theatre going, dealing in cotton futures, etc., as vastly more initiatively dangerous to the young because of their attractive environment, than the saloon, the dance hall and the gambling room, to which he declared their tendency is to lead, and said the wife of a Methodist steward who served wine to him and four others on a serenade caused him to go down, down for fifteen years within two doors of damnation, when he was saved by God's grace and a mother's prayers. He said if he could induce humanity to go on a strike the devil's power would be broken; that that the devil stands helpless in the presence of humanity if the human race will refuse to co-operate with him. The devil's picture from the Bible, "going about like a roaring lion seeking whom he may devour," was effectively drawn, and the preacher declared if the devil had the power he would "cast every christian mother and innocent babe into the fires of hell, set a burning torch to the world and consume it, cause the planets and stars of the heavens to crash together in mighty destruction and chaos, snatch God from the throne and destroy Him, and preach the funeral of the universe from the top of His tombstone."

The sermon closed with a strong appeal for sinners to come forward for prayer, and for christian people to do personal work in the meeting. A number offered for prayer and, as above stated there were six conversions at this service.

The children's and young people's song and prayer service held

Sunday afternoon attracted a large crowd and Rev. Andrews made a fine talk on Samuel's early consecration to the Lord.

MONDAY'S SERVICES.

Beginning yesterday, the afternoon service at the church was abandoned and a morning meeting begun at the opera house. This service will be held every morning from 10 to 11 o'clock—one hour—and the business and professional men and mechanics and other busy people are especially invited to attend. Request was made that if arrangements to close the stores, is not made, that the business people arrange to let a part of their force off each day. The morning service yesterday attracted an earnest and attentive congregation and the evangelist spoke on "Faith," addressing himself particularly to the christian people.

The music is a splendid feature of all the services, and especially was this true of the Sunday services. Mr. Victor Howell is not only a fine choir leader, but a baritone soloist equal to any ever heard here.

MONROE EDGE

We have sold 2000 acres of farm lands in the last few days, which is evidence of our ability in turning real estate.

We know it is a little unbecoming to boast, but you know every dog must do his own wagging, and thinking ours is duly entitled to a wag we haven't hesitated to give it one little shake.

We hardly understand why the investor invariably comes to us. But it is a known fact that he does.

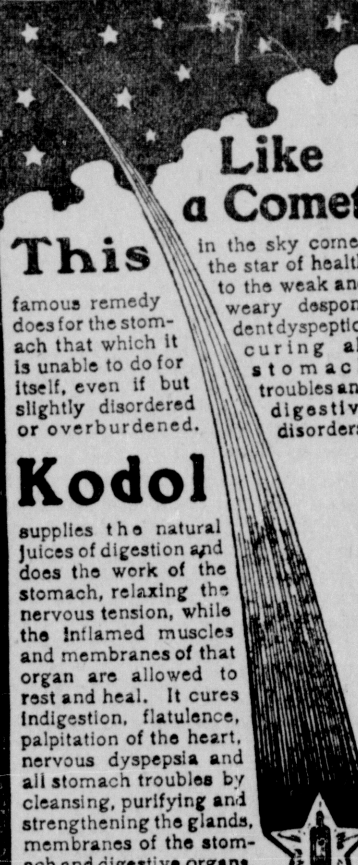

We have had several thousand circulars printed, showing the good points about Bryan and Brazos County, and to meet the demand we expect in the near future we must increase our list of property for sale. If you are in the market for a home or have something to offer, come to see us. We have a demand for several places in Bryan to cost from $500.00 to $1000.00.

THE SCILLY ISLANDS.

They Have but Three Seasons—Spring, Summer and Autumn.

The climate of the Scilly Islands is the most equable in Great Britain. It ranges on an average from 40 degrees to 60 degrees. On the coldest day it is warm and on the hottest it is cool. There are only three seasons in Scilly of four months each—spring, summer and autumn. When the autumn ends spring commences. There is no great height in the islands. The highest land in Bryher is only 133 feet above sea level, although the telegraph tower built on St. Mary's reaches a height of 158 feet, but the rock scenery of the entire group of these islands is remarkable. There are rocks fantastic, jagged, peaked, toothed, serrated; rocks resembling living creatures and others suggestive of primeval vastness and uncouthness; some grandly castellated, others

Like a great lion's cheek teeth.

Those on the peninsula of Penninis, especially if they are seen in mist, Menawar (pronounced man-of-war), the Maiden Bower, Mincarlo, Shipman's Head, the Haycocks at Annet and many others are strikingly grand. The curious resemblance to primeval animal forms has given rise to many of the names of these rocks and certainly many are

Like a great sea beast, crawled forth to sun itself, while there are "elephants' tusks," "monks' crows," "pipers' holes," "giants' castles," "pulpit rocks," etc.—London Spectator.

HAIR AND COLOR.

Red is Much Nearer Allied to Black Than to Blond.

The color of the hair, says the Grand Magazine, is usually transmitted from parents to child. This is especially true when both parents have the same complexion. Instances, however, are not uncommon where children have hair black as ebony, while the hair of both parents is a burning red. Instead of disproving the theory that a child takes after its parents, so far as the color of the hair is concerned, this fact, it has now been ascertained, is all in favor of the doctrine. Red hair, in fact, is by its structure and composition much nearer to black hair than to blond.

Very often if the hair of a very dark complexioned person be examined attentively a few quite red hairs will be detected in the mass. On the other hand, it would be time wasted to seek for black hairs in the locks of a fair person. Similarly it is not infrequent to notice children whose hair, red at birth, becomes as they grow older quite dark. When, too, after some serious illness, the production of the coloring pigment of the hair falls off, black hair becomes not blond, but red. Fair hair, which to a casual eye appears to have much more affinity to red hair than to black, is, on the contrary, quite distinct.

Valued Religious Relics.

The collection of religious relics to be seen in the church of the Corsican village of Sisco is undoubtedly unique. The inhabitants of this pretty little place are exceedingly devout and very simple, which probably accounts for the possession of such a remarkable collection. A writer in L'Independence Belge gives the following list of the principal items: The horn used by Moses to call together the children of Israel while in the desert, a tuft of that red hair which was the pride of Esau and the despair of Jacob, a piece of the nail of the little toe of the left foot—the statement is very precise—of Enoch, the patriarch; the bib worn by the infant Jesus, the curb and crupper of the ass that took the holy family into Egypt and several relics of various saints.

Two Laymen Have Been Popes.

The canon law does not prescribe that the pope must be a cardinal or even a cleric. Nevertheless since the election of Urban VI. in 1378 the successful candidates have belonged to the members of the sacred college, although as late as 1758 a noncardinal was voted for several times. At least two laymen—John XIX. (1024) and Adrian V. (1276)—have occupied the papal throne, and there is today nothing to prevent laymen from being created cardinals, although they are not entitled to vote in the conclave unless they can produce a special permit from the late pope.

Beef and Brawn.

It is said of Kean, the actor, that he ate mutton before playing the part of lover, beef before playing that of murderer and pork before assuming the character of a tyrant. That may be merely a story or a fact, but it is a well known truth that beef will enable more exhausting muscular work to be done than will mutton, so there may be something in the "roast beef of old England." In the eighteenth century this was one of the English "gods."

His Motive.

Critic—I have seen many a red cow on green grass, but this is the first time I ever saw a green cow on red grass. Is it an impressionistic departure? Irish Painter—Not at all; it's a patriotic impulse—I wanted to keep the green above the red.—Exchange.

Quite the Contrary.

"I understand that drinking is one of your husband's failings." "You have been misinformed," said the wife severely; "it is his most pronounced success."

The Cost of It.

Dolly—Neil says that her engagement ring cost $100. Polly—Perhaps she meant that she spent as much as that entertaining the young man before she got it.

RESULT OF TREACHERY.
Last Seen of Curry He Was Being Chased By Pulajanes.
Manila, March 26.—According to advices received the recent fight at Magtaon, Samar, between the constabulary and Pulajanes was the result of base treachery on the part of the natives. As a result of the fight thirty Pulajanes were killed and sixteen of the constabulary were killed and wounded.
Four chiefs with 100 men and four hundred guns lined up at Magtaon. Between them and the barracks stood a group of Americans. One of the chiefs asked that his party be photographed in the act of surrendering. A camera was being adjusted when the leader blew a whistle and ordered an advance. The entire party of natives thereupon rushed upon the American officials, who escaped to the Magtaon river and swam to the opposite bank. When the treachery of the natives was apparent, the constabulary immediately opened fire and a fierce fight ensued in which the constabulary gained a decisive victory. The Pulajanes were chased to the mountains, but the pursuers lost more guns than they captured.
The American officials were later found, with the exception of Governor Curry. He was last seen being chased by Pulajanes and it is now believed he is in hiding in the dense brush in that locality. Three hundred constabulary are now on the trail of the fugitive natives and searching for Governor Curry.

CUMMINS TO ELKINS.
Governor of Iowa Replies to Senator From West Virginia.
Des Moines, Ia., March 26.—Governor Cummins has mailed to Senator Elkins of West Virginia a reply to the senator's letter in which he criticized statements made by the governor in his speeches to the voters of Iowa regarding his examination before the senate committee on interstate commerce when it had under consideration the railway rate bill.
The governor says that the senator accused him of falsehood in declaring that his cross-examination was hostile; that an attorney for the railway companies sat at the right of Senator Elkins during the examination; that Senator Elkins appeared to be in communion and sympathy with this attorney and that the attorney handed to Senator Elkins questions to be asked the governor.

In his letter the governor tells the senator that he has fairly established the reputation of standing for the railroads in the United States senate. He concludes thus:

"It is with profound regret that I have condemned your course, but my regret disappears and another feeling takes its place when I observe that you are not only persistent in your indefensible attitude, but are endeavoring to reach over a thousand miles of space and advise the Republican voters of Iowa how to select a governor. The burden is too heavy for you, you can not lift it. The task is too great for you; you can not accomplish that."

"HA!" STANDISH DEAD.
Author of "Old Sleuth" and Other Detective Stories Passes Away.
Bainbridge, Ga., March 26.—Colonel H. K. Shackelford, better known as "Hal Standish," under which nom de plume he wrote "Fred Fearnot," "The Old Sleuth," and other well known detective stories, died here Sunday morning.

Colonel Shackelford was for thirty-five years a writer of detective stories, being under contract at the time of his death to produce one a week. He was a Baptist minister, Democratic speaker and lecturer. He was at one time connected with the Atlanta Constitution and was sixty-five years old.

ASHBRIDGE NO MORE.
Mayor of Philadelphia and Also Held Other Municipal Positions.
Philadelphia, March 26.—Former Mayor Samuel Ashbridge died Saturday at his home in this city from a complication of diseases. He was fifty-seven years of age. He was appointed deputy coroner in 1880 and served continuously as deputy, as coroner and as mayor until 1903.

DESTRUCTION GREAT.
Eleven Buildings Burn in the Center of a City.
Fayetteville, N. C., March 26.—A fire which started in the Frank Thornton Dry Goods company's store Sunday night in the center of the city destroyed eleven buildings. The loss is estimated at $300,000. No one was killed, but several persons were hurt.

Scores Stenographer.
Richmond, March 26.—With reference to a recent speech Mayor McCarthy said some stenographer made fifty errors. He said in speaking of recognizing but two flags—the South and Virginia—he meant his interests were associated with his state and his section. The mayor remarked that perhaps he would be more prompt to meet a foreign foe with the star spangled banner than "many of those anxious idiots who are tearing their hair over a passing remark."

Won Wager.
Oklahoma City, March 26.—Ellison Carroll, roped ten steers within forty-seven seconds for each animal, winning $1,000 from a party named Thompson. The longest time was forty-five seconds and the shortest was twenty-two and a half seconds. He also roped one in twenty-three, thirty-one, and thirty-two seconds.

MESSAGE SENT IN.
Governor Lanham Promptly Transmits It to Both Houses.
Austin, March 26.—After both senate and house had announced their readiness to hear from the governor he sent his message. In substance the legislators were informed they were called together to correct an error in the enrollment of the Terrell election bill, passed at the special session of the Twenty-ninth legislature in 1905. He stated the bill became a law without his signature. The governor recommends that section 120 be so amended as to conform to the language and meaning intended, and says there is no good reason why it should not be rectified.
The provisions so erroneously enrolled, are the first two sentences in section 120 of said bill and are contradictory of what immediately follows in the same section. By their terms the candidate for any state or district office who receives a majority vote of all the votes cast in any county of the state or district (as the case may be) in the primary election, shall be entitled to the entire convention vote of such county in the convention called to nominate candidates. The next succeeding sentence, the validity and passage of which are not questioned, provides that "candidates for all state and district offices shall, in the nominating convention, have prorated among them the convention vote of each county in proportion to the vote cast for such candidate in the primary election in such county." However, the error may have occurred, it seems necessary that it should be corrected.

Governor Lanham tells of several state matters, speaks of claims against government for Indian depredations, amounting to $400,000, the payment of which will probably soon be authorized by congress. Prospects of treasury being in good condition at end of fiscal year are flattering, all state warrants being paid on demand.

He states the annex to the insane asylum at Terrell is fast approaching completion and will accommodate 100 men. Male annex No. 2 will not be ready for occupancy before July. It will accommodate 200 men. Female annex is half finished. This will accommodate 200 negro women.

There is something over $426,000 to the credit of the permanent school fund. The state board of education is investing this fund as judiciously as possible.

In the house three new members were sworn in, being J. Richard Bowman of Wise county; W. J. Mathis, Grayson county, and T. B. Pearson of Fort Bend county. Representative Davis of El Paso, the new member from that district, failed to show up on account of sickness.

As an indication that legislators want to get through quick, Representative Rice introduced a bill providing for sine die adjournment of the legislature Thursday next at 4 p. m. It was referred.

Representative Marsh introduced a bill providing for an appropriation of $35,000 for mileage and per diem of the members for the special session.

Rev. W. J. Joyce of San Marcos was elected chaplain of the house to succeed Dr. Tucker, the blind chaplain, deceased.

He Can Use His Judgment as to the Twenty-Eight Hour Law.

Washington, March 26.—The committee on interstate commerce could not brave the opposition of humane societies to change the twenty-eight hour cattle shipment law. It was decided to revoke in favor of leaving the law as it is, but to grant authority to the secretary of the interior to extend the time to thirty-six hours where his judgment approves.

Senate and house conferees on the statehood bill held their first meeting Monday. Minor amendments were agreed to.

Minister Exonerated.

Guthrie, March 26.—Rev. Noah B. Wickham, a Methodist minister of this city, who for several years has been superintendent of the Children's Home society of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, was exonerated in the district court here of charges brought against him last July, alleging cruelty toward children under his charge.
